T. Blaisdell or E. L. Doherty and never had any communication directly or indirectly with either of them.

"I want you to understand I had no knowledge or official mission down there. The day before Senator Walsh arrived there I met Mr. Mc-

Sen. Walsh. See, Slump told me he was with him.

"I don't recall to me that it would be the most natural thing in the world for you to have conversations with these gentlemen," Senator Walsh pointed out.

"I don't recall that after the testimony was given, and Mr. McJannet said that he had seen Mr. Walsh on the day before he came to Boston, but that he was not with him at the time, until the committee met the facts.

"Secretary Fall said there was a gentleman who had been associated with him for thirty years who knew the truth and that the man should tell the committee the facts. If the man didn't, Secretary Fall said, he would himself."

Senator Fall interrupted to say the date of this conversation was January 11.

Senator Walsh asked if the witness had communicated to the White House as to these conversations.

Slump said all the facts had been given to the press by the committee in the future, but that he had sent messages to the White House, confidential. He doubted the advisability of the committee taking the records.

"I've got to preserve every transaction between the President and his secretary," he said.

Slump said, "I'm very sure that far as to say that was on that night and the President was down the river on his boat—only 9 p.m."

"On Saturday evening, before the President went down the river," Senator Walsh interrupted, "didn't there a statement given out that the President had ordered an investigation by Mr. Hollister and Mr. Depue?"

"As to my knowledge," Mr. Slump said.

MIDNIGHT MESSAGE.

The witness then continued that the President's latest statement on the oil case was given during the evening of the previous day.

Mr. Foster, director of the Bureau of Mines, testified that representatives of several oil companies had urged that the Interior Department

'Bookie' Suspect Has Hard Time With His Big Roll

Morris Kipner had a terrible time with his big roll, after being arrested on the charge of registering horse bets.

Kipner, who lives in Rossmore, was arrested at Row's wharf on the "bookie" charge. Police allege they found parlay records.

Roll was set at $200. Then the struggle began. He begged and pleaded, almost as big as an elephant's leg, came out on the other side. He pleaded for $200 and attempted to slip the roll back again.

It wouldn't slip. He tried it on one side, then on the other. No good. Persevering, beset by Kipner's law before the money was worked back into his racing place.

PRESIDENT MAY LET DAUGHERTY GO DOWN EASY

Believed to Favor Plan That Attorney-General Date His Resignation in Future

Washington, Feb. 25.—Some definite pronouncement from administration quarters regarding the resignation of Attorney-General Daugherty was forecast today as the Senate assembled to consider the resolution for a sweeping inquiry into Daugherty's administration of the Department of Justice.

President Coolidge was represented as still without a definite decision regarding the demand for the resignation of the Attorney-General. An adjustment of the situation without great delay, however, was said to be believed by the President to be possible.

In some quarters it was said the President might work out some solution which would not make a sacrifice of Daugherty, and yet would meet the situation which some of the party leaders may require substitution of an attorney-general from the Republican ranks.

Another scenario reported under consideration was a suggestion that Daugherty might resign his present office as written, and then be allowed him to answer all charges prior to his resignation. The Cabinet and Republican leaders believe, however, that the President would not allow him to answer all charges prior to his resignation.

"If we let him be forced from office by mere accusations," he said, "blackmail and blackmailing will be a most popular occupation in the country until decent men are driven from public life."

Another public statement from Daugherty may be issued tomorrow, it was said today that he was preparing to submit a reply to his Senate critics and publicly retract his willingness to submit to a complete investigation by Congress.

RAISED NO OBJECTION.

Secretary Fall had told him, Bain continued, that Attorney-General Daugherty had raised no objection to the plan of leaving.

Then said that there were also no objections to the plan of leaving. Bain said that the department would have the leaving left. Senator Walsh asked him to furnish copies of such reports.

Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post, had a balance of less than $10,000 in the Federal Reserve National Bank during November and December, 1921, Charles R. Lytle, testified.

McLean testified it was during that period he gave Albert B. Fall checks aggregating $10,000 to the Federal Reserve National Bank of Washington, but that the checks were returned to him unused.

BALANCE PULLED DOWN.

James H. Baden, vice-president of the Commercial National Bank, testified that McLean's balance in that bank was $9,431.49 on November 1, 1921, and that this balance was reduced by checks to less than $10,000 by the middle of December.

Reporters reached Democratic members of the committee that there has been a leak concerning the committee and that confidential information and advance notices of subpoenas have been conveyed to outsiders and even to witnesses themselves.

If additional evidence can be produced to substantiate this belief, it probably will be necessary to call two members of the committee itself for questioning regarding reports that confidential information has leaked out of the committee.

Wheeler Accuses Doherty of "Switching the Trail"

Washington, Feb. 25.—Senator Wheeler, Montana, today charged E. L. Doherty was trying "to draw a red herring across the trail of the 'Whiggish'."

Doherty had requested that Wheeler be called before the committee in connection with a Senator's testimony on the oil operator. Wheeler said he had obtained no information regarding Attorney-General Daugherty or Doherty from Senator D. M. Means, former Department of Justice operative, although Means had called on him. Means was in connection with a Pennsylvania case involving charges of sale of alleged influence with the Department of Justice.

MATES DEPART, SWEEP DIVORCES FOLLOW

When divorced couples part these days, it appears to be the custom for either husband or wife to write the "flamboyant copybook" to the other.

Paul and Annie Flinnery were married on March 12, 1920. Two months later Annie had departed. She took the family furniture with her.

This is what Paul told Judge Donovan today in the Suffolk County Divorce Court, where he was granted a divorce on the grounds of desertion.

CLAPS GIVE UP BOBBED HAIR TO WIN PRIZES

Doctor's Offer Ends Fad in Saratoga; Everybody Is Happy but the Barbers

Saratoga Springs, Feb. 25.—This is the story of a plucky doctor, who bent great odds and odds and won. Three weeks ago, when Dr. Richard H. McCarthy announced he could and would rid this city of bobbed hair, a good many citizens scoffed at him.

But he who laughs last is Dr. McCarthy. Today there isn't a hair on the head of a Saratoga barber that isn't growing longer and longer by the hour, with perfect assurance that nothing except a comb will rattle its serenely for at least a year.

Of course, it is a well-known fact that Saratoga has the comeliest, brightest and most Parisienne fashions of any town in northern New York. Nobody disputes that except the other towns.

Naturally, when bobbed hair became the fashion, the first place to bob were those of New York and Saratoga, although the Saratoga girls had the jump slightly on their metropolitan sisters, because of the science by several hairdressers. This was a matter of great pride and satisfaction to the local barbers, but not to Dr. McCarthy. He thought it a silly fashion from the first.

He stood it as long as he could and then decided to operate. People laughed.

"You're crazy," pooh-poohed Frank Silver, generally conceded to be the handsomest barber in Saratoga, and, of course, therefore most petted by bob-haired flappers.

"All right," said Dr. McCarthy, "Wait and see."

That night he announced that he would give $5 to every girl who would promise not to bob her hair for a year.

Right flappers took the pluck at once. Dr. McCarthy now has thirty

Society Folk to Present "Oh Boy" Charity Next Week, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN

EVEN the pietistic—though palatable—"hot dog" will have its day at the midnight performance of "Oh Boy," which society folk are staging on Tuesday, March 4th, at the Tremont Theatre.

Between the acts of the two matinee performances, on March 2nd and 4th, at the same theatre, tea will be served under the direction of Mrs. Edward Adams and Mrs. Edward Adams.

They have secured an attractive body of funds to serve the tea and dispense the sizzling "hot dogs."

Mrs. S. Parker Bremer of Marlboro street is leading spirit for these performances, which are being given for the benefit of the Massachusetts Association for Occupational Therapy and the Disabled Ex-Servicemen's Hospital. Tickets are now on sale at Herricks.

Mrs. Bremer and Mrs. Ralph Doane are directors for the daily rehearsals. The cast is made up of society girls and their cavaliers, many of whom have had considerable experience in amateur theatricals.

THE costumes for "Oh Boy" are being designed by Mrs. Arthur Blake and Mrs. Oliver Ames, Jr., whose artistry along these lines is very well known.

Mrs. Blake—whose estate on Dedman way is known as "The Lilies"—and Mrs. Ames have to get together a number of sartorial "fashions." Such as their famous "snow blossoms," which many a mother purchased for her youngster, thereby enriching the coffers of a worthy charity.

THERE was no end of fun and merriment at the annual soiree held on the holiday at Alton, N. C.

The mothers' race held a special Boston interest, for Mrs. Richard Warren (Elizabeth Sears of Pride's Crossing) just lately won the race from Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw.

ALLEN PLEADS FOR STARVING IN GERMANY

Warns Peace Can't Be Expected "When Nation Has Not Had Breakfast"

An appeal for funds for the starving children of Germany, "in the name of civilization, of humanity, of peace," was made by Major General Henry T. Allen in an address at the O'Connell Plaza Hotel.

General Allen, who had command of the American Army of Occupation in Germany, now is chairman of the American committee for relief of German children.

The general told of widespread suffering among the people of Germany, particularly in the unoccupied areas, and declared the world should not be unmindful of the results that might accrue from the present situation, "for when a nation has not had its breakfast and does not know where its mid-day meal is coming from we may not expect peace and quietude."

That the German people were in a desperate plight, General Allen said, was indicated by the appeal for aid received from the President of the German Republic. He read this message, which concluded with the declaration that the German people are hesitant about seeking charity, "but, if the American people are interested, we will not only welcome it heartily, but we will also take quick action to be taken to avoid wholesale starvation among our children."

General Allen told of the work already done, including the establishment of a big warehouse at Homburg, from which are distributed packages of food costing $10 in this country, but which in Germany cost three times as much.

These packages, each weighing 15 pounds, contain forty-nine pounds of flour each, twenty-five pounds of rice, ten pounds of sugar and twenty-four tins of condensed milk.

FIGHT RENEWED FOR PROBE OF DAUGHERTY

Wheeler Argues for Investigation of the Department of Justice

Washington, Feb. 25.—The report of the Senate audit committee on the resolution providing for an investigation of the administration of the department of justice, was the digest for a renewal today on the fight for Attorney General Daugherty.

Action on the resolution was expected last week because of the provision incorporated in it mandating a special committee to conduct the inquiry and Senator Wheeler who introduced it, will now modify this feature in such a way as to permit election of the inquiry personnel by the chamber.

Wheeler will fight to have Senator Brookhart of Iowa, Republican in current, selected as chairman despite the opposition of organization Republican leaders. His other suggestions for the committee members include Senators Jones of Washington, and McLean of Connecticut, Republican, and Ashurst of Arizona, and Dwyer of Wisconsin — have aroused no serious opposition.

Wheeler will present a bill of the case first, and will insist that the Attorney-General appear in person when given an opportunity to reply.

CHILD IS SAVED FROM DEATH UNDER CAR

Quick action by Motorist Byron E. Tribe saved Mildred C. Sacco, eight-year-old Somerville girl, from death beneath the wheels of a Boston Elevated trolley car near Highland avenue and Lowell street, Somerville.

Mildred was on her way home from Sunday school with her sister, Rose, four years old, and Catherine Macomber, five years old, she slipped on the ice of Highland avenue and fell across the rails. A car, en route from Lechmere Square to Clarendon Hill, was only a few feet away.

Motorist Tribe jammed on his brakes. The head of the child was beneath the fender of the car and only a few inches from the front wheel when Tribe brought the car to a halt.

Mildred was taken from beneath the fender. She complained of a pain in her side, but apparently was not seriously hurt. She was taken to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Sacco, No. 18 Princeton street, Somerville.

Commissioner Wilson informed Caverly today that he would endeavor to provide an emergency fund of $400 for the members of the narcotic squad to work with the New York narcotic squad, which is now the drug hunters have

Last Week of PAINE'S CLEARANCE

Brings Greater Values Than Ever for Prompt Buyers

The most amazing opportunities yet offered go on sale this morning, bringing to a fitting climax a clearance, the like of which has never been known.

Cost has been disregarded in marking the items below and many not advertised. The reason is, in nearly all cases but one of a kind remains. Rather than carry them into another season, when Spring goods are calling for space on the floors, they must go—at prices bearing no relation to their worth.

To get choicest selection prompt action is imperative. Knowing the public appreciation of such savings, our prediction is the majority of these pieces will be sold in a few hours.

Careless Shampooing
Spoils The Hair

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best, many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This strips the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is Muddled coconut oil shampoo, which is pure and gentle, and is better than anything else you can use. Two or three teaspoonfuls is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage. You can get Muddled coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and it will supply every member of the family for months.

JULIE'S FIANCE WHO BROKE HER NOSE

Miss Fitzgerald of Dorchester
Finds Man She Loved
Is a "Brute"

Vincent Stronach of East Brookline street, South End, may listen for wedding bells next week—but he won't find his fiancée, Miss Catherine Fitzgerald of No. 53 Train street, Dorchester, at his side.

The scheduled wedding of the couple, which was halted when Stronach beat Miss Fitzgerald white on Massachusetts avenue, Back Bay, "is all off" as far as the latter is concerned, regardless of stories to the opposite effect given out by Vincent Stronach.

For Miss Fitzgerald declares, she has found out that the man she loved "is a brute" and she's glad she found out in time.

SURROUNDED BY GIFTS. With her face bandaged as a result of blows, inflicted she says, by Stronach, the Dorchester girl, whose wedding was scheduled to take place a week from today, gave her first story of the affair which resulted in the arrest of her fiancé.

On tables at either side of her chair were the presents given her by a host of friends who had tendered her a shower only last week.

"You can say that I won't marry Vincent," she said. "You couldn't expect me to marry anyone as brutal as he has shown himself to be. I was willing to remain silent and say nothing of the affair, but he has circulated lies about me."

"I wasn't with another fellow when he struck me. I was with Vincent himself all that day and he met me near Mechanic Building that night when I got through work."

"We were walking along toward a street car when a fellow I have known all my life passed by. He tipped his hat and spoke, but did not stop. Vincent questioned me then and demanded to know who the fellow was. I told him I had known the fellow all my life."

"Then he told me I couldn't speak to fellows any more because I was to be married in a week. I laughed and he kept arguing. I refused to answer him and when we were about to board a street car he said: 'I've a mind to smash you in the face.'"

"I didn't think even that he was serious. But he hit me on the back of the neck with a lighted cigarette because a number of people were watching and I tried to act decently. As he was striking me I broke my nose."

And on the wedding to "fall off" and Miss Fitzgerald says Vincent had better get another girl if he's going to be married next week.

'WHITE WAY' HAS BIG CAST OF NOTABLES

Broadway Life With Many of Its Well-Known Folk Is Shown in Big Film

Tex Rickard, Columbia of the film-promoting world, and Arthur "Bugs" Barry, whose name has been the edge of two continents, have won new laurels in a common find-movie setting.

On next Friday night "The Great White Way," Cosmopolitan's newest super-feature, moves into the Park Theatre direct from New York and Rickard and Barry are but two of the cast of celebrities that will be seen in the picture.

When Cosmopolitan decided to take H. C. Witwer's popular story of "Cain and Abel" and turn it into a super-production, the director knew the success of the picture would depend upon something more before attempted the filming of the true spirit of Broadway.

AS IT REALLY IS

The directors didn't turn to P. D. Smith, M. A. or Pat Day, but to members of the cast to portray Broadway as it really is. They went directly to the Great White Way and selected a score of men and women who are large part of the daily pulsating life of the jaded that huddle and all that it implies. As a result, in the cast will be found not only Tex Rickard and "Bugs" Barry, but a host of others intimately and clearly associated with New York and with those who back in the artificial lights of its great variety.

Included in this list are Irvin S. Cobb, writer, Winsor McKay, Hal Cottom and J. W. McMurtry, authors of national repute, Earl Barre, world famous jockey, Denver Post, celebrated sports writer, Ned Weyburn and the entire Ziegfeld Follies chorus. There are but a few of the celebrities in the picture.

BIG HIT IN NEW YORK

Anita Stewart plays the part of Mabel Vanhook, the dancing star and toast of Broadway. Oscar Brown takes the part of Joe Cain, world champion welterweight boxer, and T. Roy Barnes plays the part of a brewery press agent. Others in the cast are Billy Gould, Stanley Ford, Hal Porter, Dora Davidson, Harry Warner, Tom Lewis and Glen Hargrave.

The picture took New York by storm. Since opening it has been being played to capacity audiences, and it moves into Boston as the first outside New York where it has been shown.

Just to show that the Cosmopolitan film directors are not superstitious it was decided to open the picture here on Friday night, a rather unusual day for the premiere—but it
